

Joe Kinchen Named Exceptional Alumnus by UNC-Charlotte

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

November 10, 2020

Administrative Controls Management, Inc. (ACM) is pleased to announce that its Regional Director, Joe Kinchen, has been named as a 2020 recipient of the University of North Carolina-Charlotte's '10 Under 10' recognizing exceptional alumni who have graduated within the past ten years. Created in 2018, the award program shines a spotlight on graduates who are not only staking their claim in their professional careers, but who are also heavily involved in the community through volunteering and philanthropy.

Over the past eight years at ACM, Joe has managed Fortune 500 projects and portfolios in the manufacturing, chemical, and energy industries; supported and managed numerous projects and portfolios in Asia, North and South America, and Europe; and presented at AACE International meetings. He has also trained Fortune 500 companies and local governments on project management, Oracle Primavera P6 scheduling, Microsoft Project scheduling, and Risk Management. Joe served as the president of the UNC-Charlotte fishing team from 2008 to 2010, won more than $30,000 in scholarship funds, and advanced to three National Championships. He currently serves on the College of Engineering Alumni Council and is an active UNC Charlotte athletics supporter.
